

In light of the studies conducted throughout Europe and Japan concerning the detrimental effects BPL imposes on HF radio communication and short-wave broadcasts , I am strongly opposed to any increase of radiated field strength levels which would pollute our most valuable electromagnetic spectrum. Such poor engineering practice is analogous to allowing auto manufacturers to double engine size without regard to emissions standards so we can get to work faster. Everyone chokes while the oil companies profit.